

SKILLSETS OF EVOLUTION

Introduction ~ Serving as a Divine Channel

Most of us know that planet Earth, and the entire human race, is undergoing an unprecedented transition; evolving into a new and upgraded timeline and one that is referred to as unity consciousness. Many of us have a mission and soul purpose to assist in this monumental shift.

Skillsets of Evolution speaks to those who are dedicated to outer service and helping others to awaken to their greater potential. It also gives great support to our next level of planetary service as we learn how to more effectively and efficiently serve as a unified collective.

The highest purpose of these teachings is to accelerate the development of your abilities in order to sincerely affect big change on the Earth while reaching the greatest numbers of people possible.

This course will help reprogram you to be a form of 'energy technology' and able to transform other energy fields in separation through your very presence alone. This happens primarily through the embodied knowledge of who and what you are and, then, applying that realization into conscious service.

Skillsets of Evolution can be regarded as an advanced program of spiritual initiation. These greater abilities are a natural and gradual unfolding, yet, through this course you are receiving a monumental initiation to get the momentum rolling really strong.

The course is specifically designed for spiritual students who are developing mastery over their personality body and the divisive duality program. This means that you have mental stability, emotional balance and have already studied and practiced with spiritual principles. It is only then that what will be initiated for you through this course can really take hold and with genuine results achieved.

For those of you who are just awakening to your spirituality and are in early phases of initiation and purification, this information will give profound understanding to what lies just ahead.

Skillsets of Evolution is the sequel to the program of Morphogenesis and the two are very synergistic; each supporting the other. Throughout this next section, I refer frequently to the ideas presented in Morphogenesis and, thus, it would be very advantageous to first read that section before engaging with this one.

We are all advancing into greater levels of service. To be motivated by service is the natural progression of evolution of the human soul. Once we are free from attachment to the humanity identity, and once we are no longer controlled by the senses, we can more easily see the illusion that the world really is. It is then that we are elevated to be in this world, but not of it.

To be 'in service' is all that really remains as the one and true mission of our evolving natures. Service eventually becomes our single most motivating factor in life and gives back tremendous fulfillment. This is because service is the soul's purpose.

Rising in Service as a Divine Channel

Your personal skillsets of evolution are a natural unfolding of living as the Greater Self. The Greater Self is that aspect of brilliance that lives within you at all times as the 'voice of conscience'. It has always been there, like a guardian angel, guiding you like a beacon and fulfilling your every need.

The only difference, now, is that you are consciously working in tandem with this influence as part of an even greater evolutionary forcefield of high purpose.

It is your Greater Self that connects and links your human aspect to the dimension of unified awareness. It is your Greater Self that facilitates the awakening of your consciousness through its constant promptings to upshift your act into a much higher gear.

We have a tendency, though, to forget about who we are as a totality. We separate ourselves from the Greater Self as if it is an entity that is outside of us, maybe somewhere above us, or that resides in the ethers. Yet, the truth is, that this often mysterious 'Greater Self' is who we already are; right here and right now!

Physical reality reflects the strongest idea that you have of yourself. This is why it is said "all realities lie within you". You do not exist in physical reality. Physical reality exists within you.

Your beliefs, emotions and outer actions form the ego structure that allows you to function as a physical representation of your vast awareness. Your human self is but a miniscule aspect of who you really are as a great multidimensional being.

What we are doing in this coursework is marrying our human identity with the Greater Self so that this union creates us to be a very influential channel and able to assist others in a very meaningful way.

This program is going to retrain your brain to serve in its intended design as a receiving station and conduit for the streams of benevolent light.

When you can make contact with and cohere to the channel of the Greater Self, expanded truths are revealed. You become highly motivated. This is when you can live your life governed by providence, which is the direct revelation of the Great Spirit expressing through the form.

You are no longer making the distinction of your Greater Self as something that is clothed in mystery or that is unreachable. You are now crossing the bridge of understanding and living as the Greater Self, right now. You are stepping into and living the concept that physical reality is an expression of how you think and how you see yourself.

In physical reality, everything is a reflection. Everything is reflecting your state of mind. How you perceive is how life expresses. With your attention upon the 'whole' of you, you magnetize that resonance into all of your life experiences.

The less separation you see between yourself as a human being and yourself as a great spiritual presence, the more you will gain in personal empowerment and the more you will expand in your ability to influence others.

Qualities of a Divine Channel

Let's dive deeper into this idea about serving as a Divine Channel.

First, realize that you are always channeling energy. You are constantly channeling information and ideas to create your experiences because you are always in contact with the greater 'you'. You are one and the same. Whether you realize it or not, you are constantly being impressed by the inner guru.

What you are doing now is to upgrade your receiver and transmitter antennas by learning how to channel in a much clearer and conscious way.

There are three essential qualities to be very effective as a Divine Channel. These are areas that you most likely are already addressing in your spiritual development.

1. The Quality of Integrity

The first quality is personal integrity.

You are expanding now into a multi-dimensional interface. To do this, you have to be holistically integrated from within. This is a level of integration that brings pristine and seamless integrity to your entire energy field.

- * Integrity exists in your energy field.
- * Integrity exists between your personality and your soul.
- * Integrity exists between your human and your Creator.
- * Integrity exists between all of your relationships.
- * There is integrity between your intentions and your actions.

All is unified and working synergistically. Your thoughts match your feelings; your feelings match your actions. You 'walk your talk' in every way.

Through the quality of integrity, you create life reflections that mirror this holistic blending. This is true power! It is from this empowered level of integration that births your skillsets of evolution; especially the ability to serve as a Divine Channel.

In whatever way that you see yourself, you will likewise see the world. If you are separated and disconnected within, this will be your perception of the outside world. If you are angry with yourself, you will be angry at the world. If you have beliefs that are divisive, you will see a divided world. If you have inner conflict, outer chaos will ensue.

On the other hand, if you are one with your totality, perceiving yourself and your creator as unified and working together, your life will function holistically and with a high degree of sustainability. You will experience an Earth reality that is peaceful and purposeful and one that expresses abundance on every level of your life.

This reality exists now for all of us. Yet, it will never be seen until we make the vibration of that preferred resonance and that preferred world our own.

This is what it means to serve as a Divine Channel in these dramatically changing times upon our planet. A dimensional shift must be made in our thought structure. It is to primarily shift from the conditioned viewpoint of 'seeing is believing' to 'believing is seeing'.

It is all right here. Everything is right now. The reality you get is the one that you are tuned into on a consistent basis.

You already possess evolutionary abilities that are inherent within you. To reveal them, is simply to 'be' the new idea right now.

2. The Quality of Self-Validation

The second important quality to serve as a Divine Channel has to do with self-validation. You validate yourself by placing high value upon your life and how you are choosing to navigate it in order to learn and evolve. Self-validation means that you honor your choices and are consistently living the true frequency of your core values.

We all are amazing manifesters when we are aligned with our true fundamental self. You will know that you are aligned and living your true fundamental self when you are inspired and act upon your inspiration without hesitation. You live according to your preferences and experience these inspired flows as joy, creativity and love.

Inspiration can be defined as the divine guidance that is exerted directly upon the mind and soul of humankind. To be inspired means that your mind has reached a stage where you are consciously and positively under the direction of your Greater Self, the God within.

Joy, passion, inspiration and excitement are feeling states that give valuable clues to your next step towards something. This 'some-thing' is what you will actually be able to accomplish most easily, most effortlessly, because it inspires you. Your vibration is fully engaged and so the manifesting forces come in and respond to you through your tremendous flow of pumped up, positive feeling.

If you are experiencing the opposite, look at the definitions that you are assigning to things. It could be a definition that was created because of previous hurts or that you have inherited from childhood. When you are misaligned to your true core self, you may feel this energy as fear, anxiety or as lacking something. Many of these false definitions keep us stagnated upon a giant wheel of pain and discomfort.

This is especially true for those definitions that de-value the self in any way. Without an understanding of our own value as a human being, advanced abilities cannot be fully realized. Only when you place high value upon yourself as being worthy, supported and unconditionally loved, holding yourself in the same value that your Creator holds you, only then will your evolutionary skillsets be most effective.

Always, always remember that you are within God and God is within you. God is experiencing itself through you as a human channel. This is your highest alignment and truth. Validate and honor thyself. I cannot emphasize this enough.

To reunite with your Greater Self is to know that your entire life is a blessing. You consistently validate all of your life experiences and situations as a blessing and an orchestration for your highest good. Through self-validation, you will always be supported in anything you want to do. Synchronicity will abound.

These new skillsets do not develop and act on their own because they are synergistic with your awareness and your beliefs. They are empowered and propelled through your consciousness. This has everything to do with the value that you place upon yourself as a magnificent creator being that is thoroughly supported and loved.

The quality of self-validation is so important because your developing abilities to serve as a Divine Channel will only be as effective as the energy you give to them. This energy is born out of personal integrity and honor. The real motivating power comes through you.

3. The Quality of Presence

The third, most essential quality to serve as a Divine Channel is 'presence'. This means that you are grounded, fully present and can center yourself at any moment.

In this Skillsets of Evolution course, we are developing ourselves to be telepathic communicators. We are strengthening our magnetism. We are serving as instruments of sensitivity and omnipresent energy transmitters.

If we are not present and grounded in this here and this now, the streams of divine impression are not able to find us, let alone channel through us. This means to be free from regretful thoughts, petty nuisances or future worries.

To open these expanded pathways, one has to have some form of practice that quiets and disciplines the mind as a receiving station. Our energy body and electromagnetic field must be calm and stabilized in order to both record and transmit the higher dimensional impressions.

Through our grounded and stilled presence, there is a cultivated inner focusing and alert mental detachment. One of my master teachers always referred to this as 'poised intensity'.

Life as a Divine Channel is living from the center point. Our form is purified and prepared. We are highly focused. Our eyes are forward. Emotions are stable and we come from compassionate love and understanding. We are a unity in power. All is for the power and glory of the One. Our love of love dominates. We sustain ourselves from the center of our pulsating sphere.

When we stand calm at the center point, we attract. We direct. We choose. From the center point, we love all; drawing everything to the center. From the illumined center, the love of God's eternal plan perfectly guides and controls our life. Our mind, our vision and our working hands are motivated by humanity's progression into unity.

To authentically serve as a Divine Channel, we know how to stand still, quiet and unafraid. We meet the opportunities that come our way, acting upon the incoming streams of intuition and positive synchronicity. We follow these messages and apply ourselves to the needs to be met.

This is why there is so much focus and teaching upon meditation. My master teacher used to tell me to stop all of my work until I learned the art of standing still. He would instruct me to dissociate myself from all of my visions and adored truths.

To be a Divine Channel, he said, is to have the ability to stand quietly at the center until a time when you can align yourself with all visions, with all forms of truth, with all dreams of reality, and then to find, behind all of this, God.

The information on the following pages will help you to understand how to sincerely and authentically serve as a Divine Channel. You will learn about eight important skillsets that are fundamental to your evolving nature.

These are multidimensional abilities and they are all naturally interrelated and synergistic. It can be no other way. After all, we are moving beyond the linear sequence.

This information is born from direct experience and the knowing that comes from being divinely attuned. It might very well mirror your own experiences, as well. It is my deepest hope that these perspectives will create a great opening to your remembrance about the skills that you already possess.

Enjoy the journey!
